

Contents

	Foreword by Vassily Vlassov .....	VII
	Author's note .....	XI
	Acknowledgements.....	XV
1	Goals and tools of informal healthcare sociography .....	1
	1.1. Problem statement.....	1
	1.2. Description model .....	9
	1.3. "Informal healthcare" drivers.....	34
2	Agents in the markets for health products.....	51
	2.1. "We are like Galileo—they burn us at the stake, but we continue promoting dietary supplements": Direct selling of health products .....	55
	2.2. Latent functions of the healthcare institution: The case of pharmacies.....	70
	2.3. Contemporary peddlers: Itinerant trade and peddling health products.....	84
3	Health from the garden, forest, and market: Procuring and selling gifts of nature .....	95
4	Shadow and respectable alternative medicine: From healers to "complementary" specialists.....	111
	4.1. "People remember a certain Baba Vanga, so they will also remember me": Healers.....	112
	4.2. Frontier zone: Ambivalent status, recognition problems and shadow practices of complementary and alternative medicine specialists .....	128
	4.3. All diseases of the nerves: Psychotherapy as an alternative to orthodox medicine .....	168

5	Religious institutions: Health concerns and commerce on health problems .....	175
5.1.	The attitude of religious organizations to conventional and alternative medicine .....	182
5.2.	Treatment arsenal: Religious ceremonies, rituals, and practices to address health problems .....	192
5.3.	Social service as a form of religions' participation in healthcare.....	209
5.4.	Religious associations in the markets for health products.....	223
6	The "informal healthcare" framework: Information markets .....	233
6.1.	Mass media .....	234
6.2.	Information intermediaries.....	246
	Afterword.....	253
	Appendices .....	255
	References .....	269